Vera Blank – N Vision Senior Consultant Profile

Vera Blank is a senior organizational consultant, trainer and coach with over 20 years of experience in the fields of personal and organizational change.

She is an expert in facilitating change: organizational, transformation and personal change for success. This includes staging custom designed programs to accompany transformation and learning processes on all levels in the organization.

She delivers highly effective customer oriented workshops and international leadership programs throughout the automotive, pharmaceutical, chemical, banking and insurance industries in both Europe and the USA. Her seminars and workshops are highly participatory, motivating and solution focused. Vera covers learning topics addressing communication, team cooperation, facilitation and leadership performance.

As an executive coach, Vera takes a flexible approach and adapts her style to the needs of both the individual and the organizational circumstances. Personal and leadership competences including self awareness, self management and personal impact are developed by supporting each individual's uniqueness.

Vera's experience ranges from working with young, dynamic and entrepreneurial leaders to training and coaching executive management teams through turbulent times of organizational change. She believes that there is a strong connection between institutional values of a company and business success. Her mission is to support N Vision Learning's clients and bring their values to life, transforming company culture into a business resource that consistently stimulates business results through Value Leadership.
